

Teachers' workshops? Check!

The training the trainers phase of the project has been successfully completed.

During this phase a remarkable number of educators (75 to be specific) from Italy, Spain and Greece has joined and completed the 80-hour long training process. Congratulations to all participants for the eagerness and commitment.

It is hoped that the knowledge acquired will be put into practice both in the near future and in the long run and thus prove to be a valuable educational tool in everyday school life.

Toolkit? Underway!

At the same time the translation of the educational tool kit is under way.

Obviously it will take its final form after it is put into practice by partner schools so the final text will be as reader friendly as possible.

Next step: Training the students!

The student groups that are selected to participate in the training are to do so by the end of the school year.

No time to waste.

Stay tuned ...
